*Rajiv Kumar,
Chief Election Commissioner of India*

It gives me immense pleasure to introduce a new venture of ECI publication, 'BLO E- Patrika.' This is an ode to all the grassroot workers for their passionate service to build an empowered and inclusive democracy. The E-Patrika aims to recognize and appreciate the continued efforts of our BLOs to enhance the electoral roll and spread voter awareness.

The Indian election process is a colossal task which attracts eyeballs from around the globe. While, more often than not, the attention is directed onto the poll day, we rarely acknowledge the exhaustive task of reaching out to each household to enable the eligible citizens to reach the polling booth. This is not a one-day, one-man task. It is the work of a dedicated and well-prepared team that makes it possible. The BLO Patrika will give you a glimpse of how the team on the ground is trained and prepared to sow the seeds of Indian elections. It is a bird-sight view of the BLOs on the ground.

BLOs have a critical responsibility to facilitate voter registration, door to door survey for updating electoral roll & assistance on the polling day. This E-Patrika will reinforce the BLOs with the nuances of voter awareness programmes and to sensitise them with modern day technologies & minimum SVEEP activities across the country.

The BLO Patrika is an attempt to bring across real stories from the ground. The storytelling format of the Patrika is sure to benefit its readers.

I extend my gratitude to the entire team who worked tirelessly to bring forth this one-of-a-kind Patrika in the finest way possible. Most humbly, I present this Patrika to all our grassroot workers who truly hold the reins of the Election Commission of India.

(Rajiv Kumar)

The importance of teamwork can best be seen from the mammoth task of conducting Indian elections. In its successful implementation, every stakeholder stands strong and shows the indomitable spirit which enables the Election Commission of India to conduct these elections in a free, fair, inclusive, participative and accessible manner, even during troubled times of COVID.

This exemplary team turns elections into a festival celebrated across the country. The BLO E-Patrika emphasizes on this teamwork and presents a detailed account of BLO stories in an attempt to connect with the Booth Level Officer who is like a bridge between ECI and the electors.

BLOs act as friend, philosopher and guide to the voters and facilitate them to participate in the electoral process. The BLO E-Patrika not only details the work done by the BLOs but also brings forth their experiences from the ground.

I feel extremely delighted to present the BLO E-Patrika dedicated to each BLO working relentlessly in ensuring that the biggest festival of our democracy is celebrated with true spirit.

I congratulate the entire team at ECI and CEO offices for capturing the glimpses of work carried out by BLOs at the ground level.

Stories from ground zero

Breaking the Barriers

How BLOs blend welfare goals and electoral strategy to enroll maximum eligible citizens to vote

Sukru Majhi
77 AC Lanjigarh Village, Odisha

Prevalence of patriarchy can, at times, lead towards the isolation of women from public sphere. The story is of the town in Lanjigarh Tehsil in Kalahandi District of Odisha, dominated by local tribes.

Female voter registration was below the national average in 2020. It was noticed that illiteracy, household power dynamics and general unawareness prevented females from participating in the electoral process.

The consistent effort of the BLOs like Sukru Majhi of Booth No 270 resulted in an increase of registration of woman voter from 17% to 67% in that particular booth in the year 2022.

A team comprising BLO, AWW, ASHA, moved door to door & spread awareness about the registration process.

The BLO facilitated voters with the process of online registration by using Voter Helpline & Garuda App.

*Miningstar Sawkmie **
30-Mairang Village, Meghalaya

The story of the Booth Level Officer, Miningstar Sawkmie under 30-Mairang village is inspiring and heart touching. The 52-year-old government lower primary school teacher from Mawsmi village, received open hostility from the public while trying to perform his designated duties and educating the citizens about the importance of elections.

Despite the odds, he traversed through thick forests and dilapidated kutchra road to reach his designated polling station and often has to take shelter beneath trees to protect himself from scorching sun. The residents detest him to the extent that during the door to door visit for enrolment and correction of EPIC, abuses were hurled at him.

Even with such a reception, he stayed true to his duty, and conducted the election exercise in the village with utmost sincerity. The enrolment figures of the village were mostly low, but the BLO kept on persuading all to enrol and helping those who were in need of EPIC. His perseverance has finally started bearing some fruits as many villagers, who used to be against him, have started to realize the power and utility of EPIC and have enrolled themselves. This alone has encouraged the BLO to proceed further with the objective to achieve 100% enrolment in the village.

Siddharth Shanke *

30 Fatorda Assembly Constituency, Goa

Hi, I am Siddharth Shanke, BLO of Part No. 23 of 30-Fatorda Assembly Constituency in Goa. My polling booth is St. Anne's School, East Wing, Agalli.

My first duty as a BLO was to verify the electoral roll. As a local, it was easy for me to go to different places. I initiated door-to-door visits and corrected/deleted names and addresses and enrolled new names in the voters' list. I have always received a warm welcome from electors and I try to offer complete support to them.

One day I visited a senior citizen who told me that it was difficult for him to travel more than 1.4 km just to cast his vote. He requested whether a polling station could be set up nearer to his house, a proposal I put before our Electoral Registration Officer. This request was granted, and the polling station was shifted to the current location, St. Anne's School, East Wing, Agalli. Subsequently, I sent WhatsApp messages to all the voters in my area about the new polling booth address. After the polling booth moved to the new location, people were able to cast their votes. The good news is that the voting percentage, too, increased from 70 per cent to 80 per cent.

All voters in my assigned area know me well. Whenever they need any assistance relating to EPIC card, they send a message to me. They even visit me in person. The citizens in my constituency know that I can also assist them through the National Voter's Service Portal (NVSP) website (www.nvsp.in/voterhelpline), or the Garuda App.

Siddharth Shanke being awarded ( R ) for his good work
